

Nirvair, 5-C

Name of Book: Empire of the mughal raiders from the north

Author: Alexander Rutherford

Genre: Historical fiction

The book revolves around 13 year old Babur who became king of Fergana due to his father's death. He is inexperienced and is a teenager. He keeps loosing kingdoms as if it is going out of fashion. He is guided by his witty grandmother and general Wazir Khan who is an integral part of his family. He always cribs about Hindustan.

Babur is a big risk taker and is very generous. He is a good king and he pursues his dreams to make them prophetic. He is brave, caring and faithful. Esan Dawalat - Esan Dawalat is Babur's grandmother and guides him through his personal life. Babur takes her advice before making any decisions she is witty and cunning. She adores Babur.

Wazir Khan - Wazir Khan is an integral part of Babur's family. He is his father Mirza Ali's milk brother. He guides Babur as he is like his godfather. Wazir Khan is brave and ferocious.

Baburi- Babur's dear friend Baburi is a market boy who is from Ferghana. He and Babur always have arguments about Babur's self pity issues and sometimes these fights get really violent. He is a very gentle and caring man.

My maternal grandmother reminds me of Esan Dawlat because she always guides me and helps me out at bad times.